

Andrew S. Ross, MD

Dr. Andrew Ross is the Section Head of the Gastroenterology Department and Medical Director of the Therapeutic Endoscopy Center of Excellence at Virginia Mason Medical Center. Dr. Ross joined Virginia Mason thirteen years ago and his clinical practice is focused on treating patients with pancreaticobiliary disease, esophageal disorders, and early gastrointestinal malignancies.

Dr. Ross is the author of multiple peer-reviewed articles and book chapters in the field of Gastroenterology and is nationally and internationally recognized for his recent work on infection control issues in ERCP. Driven by his passion for innovation and technology, he was also deeply involved in designing and developing a state-of-the-art integrated procedure center for Virginia Mason that debuted in the spring of 2012. Dr. Ross joined Virginia Mason Medical Center's Executive Leadership Group in a new role focused on organizational growth in January, 2017.